Stronger Screens Safer Homes

Our security screen doors with perforated metal screen AND 2" x 1" heavy duty frames are designed to do more than just look tough — they've been built and tested to meet or exceed the most advanced security screen specification in North America: AAMA 1901.

This isn't just security you can see — it's peace of mind you can feel.

Vertical Window Guards

Mounted on the exterior of your home, the Su Casa Vertical Window Guard provides the ultimate deterrent to forced entry and adds a tasteful architectural accent.

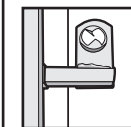

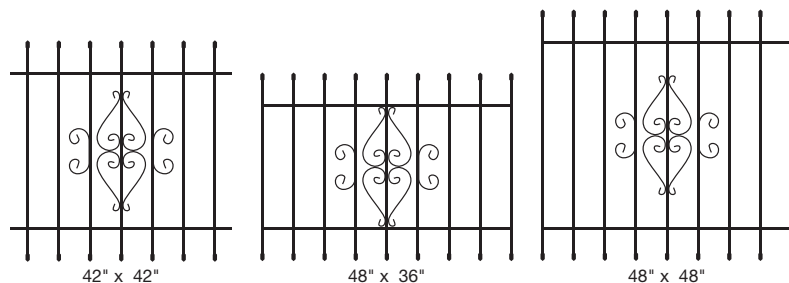

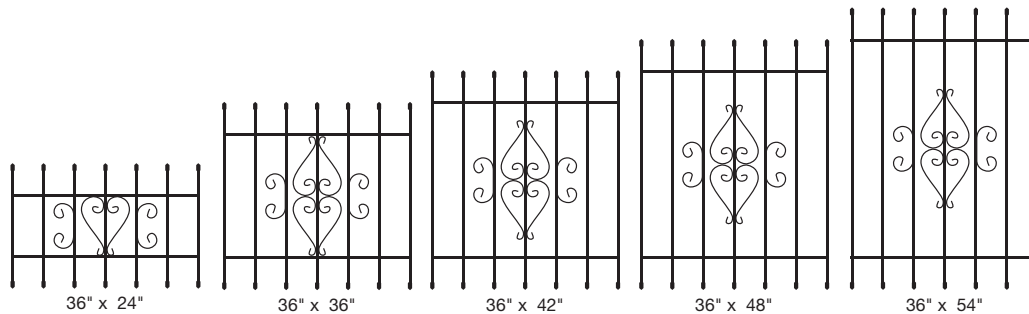

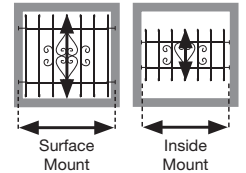

- Rigid steel construction
- Durable powder-coat finish in 2 colors
- Mounting brackets available for flush, projected, or inside-mount applications (sold separately)
- Cover larger windows using 2 panels and connector pins or T-brackets
- Foot-operated release kit available (may be required by code)

How to select a size for window guards

Window guard brackets require a minimum of 1" mounting surface. Mounting screws must be secured to a stud in the wall. Dependent on these requirements, and visual preference, you may choose to cover only a portion of the window, extend to the window frame, or go beyond the window frame.

- For width, measure between left and right mounting surfaces
- For height, select size to cover window and suit your visual preference

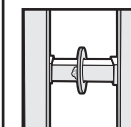

Flush-mount Brackets

Flush-mount Brackets will mount the guard flush to the mounting surface.

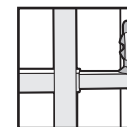

3" Projection Brackets

3" Projection Brackets will project the guard 3" forward from the mounting surface.

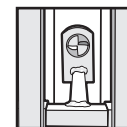

Connector Pins

Connector Pins join two window guards side-by-side to cover large windows; does not require a mounting surface behind the joint of the two window guards.

Inside-mount Brackets

Inside-mount Brackets will mount the guard to the inner surface of the window frame.

T-Brackets

T-Brackets join two window guards side-by-side to cover large windows; requires a mounting surface behind the joint of the two window guards.

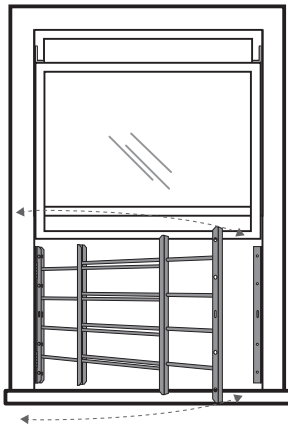

Foot-operated Release Kit

Foot-operated release will provide an exit in case of emergency, with one easy kick. (Available in black only)

Horizontal Window Guards

Typically mounted on the interior of your home, Horizontal Window Guards provide protection against window falls and are a strong deterrent to forced entry.

Hinged Window Guards

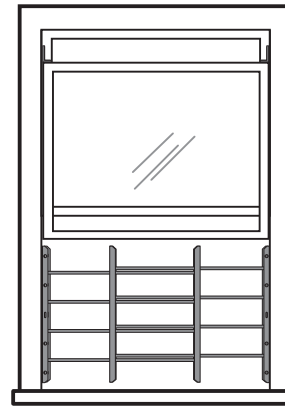

Hinged window guards will unlatch and swing open, for an easy exit in case of emergency.
